Dear Supporter of the Arts:

Georgia Academy of Dance & the Performing Arts is enthusiastically preparing for our annual contemporary, early childhood, and ballet performances. This year's productions will feature the beauty of classical ballet and the energy and innovation of contemporary dance.

As a supporter of the arts, you will reach an endless number of potential customers, for these advertisements will be viewed by family, friends, and performance attendees. Each program is a cherished memento for each student and their family.

If you have been an advertiser in the past, please join us again! If not, we hope to show you the rewards of supporting the arts in our community.

Your support and generosity are an investment in fostering the arts and improving the future of our community. We thank you for your support and appreciate your investment in the lives of aspiring and dedicated artists.

Tales of Courage – Saturday, June 8th at 11am

A celebration of the "Princesses" and "Warriors" of our Early Childhood Program.

A Celebration of Contemporary Dance - Saturday, June 8th at 6pm

An evening filled with explosive, athletic, and lyrical movements of contemporary dance performed to familiar music of the past and today.

An American in Paris - Sunday, June 9th, at 2pm

Based on the original story by Alan J. Lerner and the symphonic work of George Gershwin, An American in Paris is a story of an American ex-GI soldier who stays in post-war Paris to become an artist, but his carefree days of painting soon meets complex decisions he must make as he falls in love with a beautiful and talented local shop girl. An original Ballet by Artistic Director Sherri Davis.
